

GENDER ACTION PLAN FOR LOCAL AUTHORITIES IN THE KARAS REGION

Summary

This action plan follows the launch of the study, At the Coalface, Gender and Local Government which took place on 23rd July 2007 in Windhoek and was officiated by Hon. Netumbo Nandi-Ndaitwah, Acting Minister of Gender Equality and Child Welfare in the presence of Hon Minister John Pandeni, Minister of Regional and Local Government, Housing and Rural Development.

The study found that at 42 percent Namibia has the highest proportion of women in local government in the Southern African Development Community (SADC). A key conclusion of this study is that gender needs to be systematically mainstreamed into the work of local government so that this sphere of government can become a vehicle for achieving gender equality where it matters most, on the ground.

Following the launch, Gender Links in partnership with the Association of Local Authorities in Namibia (ALAN) organised a workshop with 51 councillors and officials from each of the 13 regions as well as representatives from the ministry of Gender Equality and Child Welfare and civil society to develop a gender strategy for local government which was adopted by ALAN.

In November 2007 representatives from ALAN, the Ministries of Gender Equality and Child Welfare and Regional and Local Government, Housing and Rural Development and local authority councillors joined a Training of Training workshop to develop the Gender Action Plan Manual for Namibia that is being used to roll out gender action plans in all provinces from May to July 2008.

This plan was developed at the first such workshop held in Keetmanshoop from 12 – 14 May 2008 which was attended by 27 representatives from 6 of the 8 Local Authorities in the Karas region, as well as representatives from ALAN and the ministry of Gender Equality and Child Welfare. It should be noted that as this is a regional plan, it will require further fine tuning to suit the specific needs and circumstances of each local authority.

Background and demographics of the region

The Karas Region, the southernmost region of Namibia, covers 161 215 km² (20% of the total surface area of the country) and it gets its name from the Nama word for "Quiver Tree" which is southern Namibia's famous plant symbol.

Its location in Namibia's south means that it shares a long border in the south and east with the Northern Cape Province of South Africa. Domestically, it borders only the Hardap Region, to the north and the Atlantic Ocean in the west. The main railway line and two main roads give access to South Africa.

The region is a predominantly small stock farming area, consisting mostly of animals such as sheep or goats. Game farming and irrigation farming along the Naute Dam and the Orange River have gained significantly in importance. It is a profitable tax-generating area, which predominantly comes from diamond mining areas along the coast for the central government.

The tourism industry has the potential for further expansion with current attractions such as the Kokerboom forest near Keetmanshoop, the Fish River Canyon which is the second largest in the world, the Brukaros Mountain (a former volcano) near Berseba, the coastal town Lüderitz. The economic growth potential of the area is considerable but needs an intensive general development policy.

There are approximately 69 329 (2001 Population and Housing Report of NPC) people in the Karas region – less than 5% of the total Namibian population. With an average of 0.4 persons to every km², Karas is one of the most sparsely populated areas in the country. The largest concentrations of people are found in major urban/mining centres such as Lüderitz (±13 500); Oranjemund (±11 000) and Keetmanshoop (±12 000), with the remaining population spread across the region in smaller settlements such as Berseba (±5000), Aroab (±5000), Bethanie (±2000) and Tses (±2000).

A third of all Karas' people are under the age of 15, while 46% of citizens are female with 35% of households being headed by women. Afrikaans (40%), Nama/ Damara (26%) and Oshivambo (23%) are the most commonly spoken languages. There is an 87% literacy rate with more girls (52%) than boys (48%) attending school.

Local Authorities

The Karas region includes the local authorities of Aroab, Berseba, Bethanie, Keetmanshoop, Karasburg, Koes, Lüderitz and Tses. Keetmanshoop is considered as the capital of the south. The region exceeds the national average of 42% women in local government by 19%, with approximately 61% of local councillors being women.
